

GALLUP®

News Brief

George Gallup
(1901-1984)

Dear reader,

Welcome to the first edition of the Gallup News Brief, a twice-monthly newsletter showcasing some of Gallup's best U.S. and international content, hand-picked for you by our Gallup News team.

These snapshots will connect you with our must-read stories on how people are navigating the changing world around them. In this era of COVID-19, social unrest and economic turmoil, our team is tracking political attitudes, social behavior, personal and financial wellbeing, economic outlooks, and much more.

Regardless of the topic, Gallup content reflects our commitment to founder George Gallup's vision of being a nonpartisan source for reliable, objective metrics on the will of the public and how people live their lives.

Our aim is to leave you with useful content that can be digested on the go. Thanks for lending us your eyes (and ears) in these digitally cluttered times.

A blue ink signature, appearing to read 'Mohamed Younis', with a stylized flourish at the end.

Mohamed Younis
Editor-in-Chief
Gallup News

P.S. Did someone forward this email to you? You can learn more about the Gallup News Brief here.

NEWS FOR YOU

Targeted Quarantines Top U.S. Adults' Conditions for Normalcy

Americans rate the importance of various measures to their willingness to resume pre-COVID-19 activities.

Read Article

Congress Job Approval Highest Since 2009

Three in 10 Americans (31%) approve of the way Congress is doing its job.

Read Article

Americans Rank Halting COVID-19 Spread Over Medical Privacy

Sixty-one percent of Americans say preventing COVID-19 is more important than protecting privacy.

Read Article

Internet Access at New High Worldwide Before Pandemic

A majority of adults worldwide (56%) have internet access, but a digital divide remains.

Read Article

Americans Struggle to Navigate COVID-19 "Infodemic"

Nearly eight in 10 U.S. adults say misinformation about the coronavirus is a major problem.

Read Article

Alumni Rate Colleges' Responsiveness to Discrimination

In the U.S., 27% of recent graduates are confident their alma mater would have fully investigated a discrimination report.

Read Article

Explore Gallup's key metrics and trends on race relations, as well as historical analyses — many of them are still relevant today.

Topics A-Z: Race Relations

View all articles on Race Relations

TUNE IN

Gallup Podcast: 'Deaths of Despair and the Future of Capitalism'

LISTEN NOW

Webinar: Trust in the Age of COVID-19

WATCH NOW

Perceptions of leadership matter now more than ever. Our 2020 Rating World Leaders report will launch this summer, with new ratings of global leadership. In the meantime, you can read the 2019 report to learn how the global image of U.S. leadership compares with that of Germany, China and Russia.

LEARN MORE

GALLUP®

Manage Your Email Preferences

Gallup World Headquarters
901 F Street, NW
Washington, D.C. 20004 USA

Privacy Statement | Terms of Use | Unsubscribe

Copyright © 2020 Gallup, Inc. All rights reserved.